A Story of Self-setting Sudoku #3 by Thomas Snyder

The third level of self-setting is "Conditional Setting Automation". The author can now simply ask, for familiar grid patterns, for automation to generate valid Sudoku with specific characteristics. The author -- now more of an editor -- relaxes until there are thousands of solution paths to watch go through their steps, and looks for whatever is "interesting" to the eye. Beauty is in the eye of the editor.

*Intelligence is Thinking * The Box (3 of 5)*